An Unfinished History of Midlothian, Virginia

by Kim Amboy

Midlothian is a great community--excellent schools, top-notch restaurants, and beautiful neighborhoods. And if you have the pleasure of living here, you might take for granted your modern suburban lifestyle with all its nearby conveniences. But, as old-timers will tell you, this place wasn't always the bustling Richmond suburb it is today. As a matter of fact, the history of Midlothian, Virginia, is quite an interesting saga, and one that bears retelling. So, gather 'round and listen to the tale of your own stomping grounds.

Long before the English colonized this area, native Americans, particularly the Appamatuck and Arrohatock tribes, lived and thrived here. Several archaeological sites in Midlothian and Chesterfield County provide evidence of their settlements and their subsequent interactions with English settlers in the early 1600's.

The population increase in this area gave birth to an important discovery--COAL! The first coal mines were set up in the early 1700's, and because of these events, Midlothian was originally named Coalfield. As the story goes, the name "Midlothian" was later chosen by Scottish-born residents to honor the mining region in Scotland that shared the same name. In the early 1800's, coal had become big business here, being shipped to places all across America, even to the US White House during Thomas Jefferson's presidency.

In those early days, shipping all that coal became a bit of a logistical nightmare. The road upon which it was carted became deeply rutted by the heavy coal wagons, which frequently got stuck in them. The ruts were also a nuisance to farmers carting their produce and other travelers in general, necessitating the people and mine owners to petition the Virginia General Assembly for permission to construct a turnpike. Today's Midlothian Turnpike roughly follows the route of that resulting old road...it was Virginia's first paved toll road. (Think about that next time you're driving down 60.)

Back to our story...the coal boom during the 1800's. Midlothian's mines played a huge role in Virginia's economy. Workers and businesses were attracted to the growing community. But, as with all mining towns during that time period, there was a dark side.

Mining life was not only difficult, but dangerous. Workers put in long hours underground, risking their lives to ply their trade. Explosions and cave-ins were a regular occurrence at all mines. And Midlothian experienced its share of tragedy. One such incident, known as the Grove Shaft Explosion, occurred in the winter of 1882. A violent methane explosion trapped 32 men in the local mine with rescuers making several futile attempts to save them. Despite these tragedies, mining continued into the twentieth century until demand for coal declined.

Incidentally, the stone ruins of the mines and all this fascinating history have been carefully preserved at the Mid-Lothian Mines Park, located at 13301 N Woolridge Rd in Midlothian.

And now we've reached the end of our historical tale. Midlothian eventually evolved into the vibrant community we know today, but I can't really say, "They lived happily ever after," because the story is not really finished. The history of Midlothian is still being written by today's residents for future generations to read. It'll be interesting to see how this story continues.

LET THE MONTHLIES HELP YOU GROW YOUR BUSINESS

TAKE ME OUT TO THE BALL GAME

by Taylor Armstrong

If you grew up in or around Richmond, you probably have fond memories of visiting the Diamond, eating cotton candy, and enjoying not only a baseball game, but fireworks. The Diamond is no longer in use, but CarMax Park, the new state-of-the-art ballpark located at 2929 N Arthur Ashe Blvd, is now officially the home of the Richmond Flying Squirrels. It is part of the Diamond District, which will eventually include apartments, hotels, stores, restaurants, and a public green space.

CarMax Park is a family friendly ballpark and through their partnership with Bon Secours, their official healthcare partner, they are able to provide multiple spaces for families and those with young children. At the Bon Secours Base Camp & Lawn, families will enjoy a playground with structures for ages ranging from 2 to 12. The Lawn is a beautifully terraced turf seating area close to the playground where you can still see the game. The Bon Secours Nursing Nest, a private space for nursing mothers and caregivers, is also available.

There are twenty luxury suites at CarMax Park, perfect for entertaining families, clients, employees, or for use for a celebration. It is a year-round venue, with multiple climate-controlled spaces and the ability to host concerts, festivals, and private events. One of the most popular suites, the Atlantic Union Bank Lounge, comes with an all-you-can-eat buffet, a private bartender, and spectacular views of the ballpark.

There are multiple seating options, at differing price points, including The Lawn (no seats, but perfect for lounging with a blanket), the Woodfin Yard Club (Adirondack chairs with prime views), the Bullpen Rails, classic ballpark seating, and much more. The Patio, a multi-terraced beer garden in left field, is open to all ticket holders and is even next to the visiting team's bullpen.

With a wide variety of exciting concessions offerings, spectators can choose from BBQ plates, specialty burgers, hot chicken, burritos, and much more. They also have a couple of quick grab-and-go options, including the 804 Market. Drinks will continue to include delicious local craft beer, as well as wine, seltzers, cocktails, and Pepsi products.

CarMax Park certainly has something for everybody. We are excited to see all that it has to offer and can't wait to see the Flying Squirrels, NutZy, and Nutasha this summer.
